In 2015, it became a branch of the INET-md, which has been a major development in its history.

Throughout twenty years, CIPEM has carried out various research projects and organized national and international conferences, to foster research and contribute to professional development in music, psychology and education in Portugal.

IC CIPEM 2019 aims to bring together researchers, teachers and musicians involved in music education, performance and composition, concerned with the current challenges of music education in a changing world and eager to reflect on the roles of music in peoples' lives in contemporary societies.
